Whenever there's a big kickboxing event, everyone wants to find out how to watch live. Tomorrow's Glory World Series show is no exception, as it boasts a strong card featuring the return of four time K-1 World Grand Prix winner, Semmy Schilt. There are multiple ways that you can watch this event live and we've got you covered on how you can tune in.

It must be noted that the event is at 11:00 AM EST/8:00 AM PST in North America. In Europe it starts at 3:00 PM CET. Locally in Moscow, it starts at 6:00 PM. I'm even gonna give the time for those of you down under in Australia, it starts at 2:00 AM Sydney time.

Where to watch:

Russia and former Soviet countries: Rossiya 2 will be showing the full broadcast live.

Worldwide: There are a few options here. The full event will be streaming live on gloryworldseries.com where it can be purchased for $15 USD through credit card or Paypal. You can also choose to subscribe for $10 USD a month and be able to watch the show. Alternatively, the full event will be streaming live on gfl.tv for the same price of $15 USD.

Canada: The Fight Network will be showing the event live.
