

K-1 have been relatively quiet when it comes to bigger events, but their K-1 World Grand Prix Qualifier tour continues on throughout Europe. The K-1 WGP Qualifying shows have been a staple in K-1 for a long time now, and while we might not have a clear breakdown of who goes on to what anywhere in public, the word is that things are working as they used to, where there is a set of qualifiers, then regional tournaments to decide who goes where.

The next event is in conjunction with KOK and goes down in the Capitol city of Lithuania, Vilnius. The card is coming together nicely so far and is headlined by Artur Kyshenko squaring off with Poland's Denis Makouski. You can check out the rest of the card here.
