The Glory World Series 70kg First 16 feels like a far off, distant memory now, even though were are just a few weeks past it, but if you cannot wait for more Glory action, luckily Glory TV has put together a documentary series about the event. Part 1 is up now and you should be watching it already. If even this isn't enough, they announced this morning that very shortly they would be announcing some future dates and matchups for future events, so you will not have to wait much longer!
