

Just a few days ago Golden Glory announced that the United Glory Tournament's second round show, which was set to take place on January 30th was postponed, mainly due to Gokhan Saki's hand injury. Saki was one of the top-billed fighters on the card and had to bow out due to the injuries he sustained during the K-1 World Grand Prix. The second round of the tournament was set for the 30th in Charleroi, Belgium, but has now seemingly been pushed back to March 19th.

This hopefully gives time for Saki as well as John Alessio, who was also injured heading into the January 30th event, time to fully recover and appear on the March 19th show.

The MMA Welterweight tournament brackets are as follows:

John Alessio vs. Siyar Bahudurzada
Tommy Depret vs. Roan Carneiro

The Kickboxing Heavyweight tournament is as follows:

Gokhan Saki vs. Wendel Roche
Brice Guidon vs. Mourad Bouzidi
