The details of GLORY's Road to GLORY events across the United States keep emerging, with two events set for the beginning of February that we've already posted about and have full details for.

Road to GLORY's 77kg/170lb Welterweight tournament will be in New York City on March 22. Lou Neglia, former kickboxer himself and promoter of New York-based kickboxing promotion Combat at the Capitale will be promoting the event. The tournament will take place on a Combat at the Capitale event at the Capitale venue in Manhattan.

Like all Road to GLORY tournaments, the winner will receive $20 000 and a contract with GLORY. The tournament lineup will be announced shortly. As of right now, we know that two of the tournament's participants are Chris Clodfelter and Mike Rhodes.

Also, in related news, Road to GLORY USA events will be aired on CBS Sports Network in the United States, on tape delay.
